The following Address has been presented to Her Majesty.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Archbishop and Clergy of the Diocese of Armagh, at the Visitation of the said Diocese, held the 27th of May 1708; presented to Her Majesty by his Excellency the Earl of Pembroke, Lord-Lieutenant of the Kingdom of Ireland.

May it please your Majesty,

WHEN we consider in how many Respects the Subjects of your Majesty's Kingdoms are happy beyond all others, and that this is chiefly owing to the good Providence of God, in placing so Religious and Wise a Queen over us; We cannot but stand amaz'd at the late desperate Attempt of a mere Titular Prince to invade your Majesty's Dominions.

And it is no less amazing to reflect, that any Persons who grown'd under the Yoke of Popery and Arbitrary Power, before the late happy Revolution, should now so far forget that reasonable Deliverance, and God's glorious Instruments in it, as to invite the same or worse Task-masters to put on new and heavier Burthens. As for such ungrateful and unnatural Wretches, we most heartily detest and abhor both their Principles and Practices; and do beg leave to assure your Majesty of the inviolable Duty to your sacred Person and Fidelity to your Government, both of our selves, and all under our Influence; in which Principles of Duty and Loyalty we always shall endeavour to confirm them, both by our Arguments and Examples, and to engage (without any Excuse) their Hands and Fortunes, as well as their Hearts, in the Defence of your Majesty's just Right and Title to these Realms, against all Invaders.

We are most truly thankful to Almighty God for confounding this last and most wicked Device of your Majesty's Enemies, and have a deep Sense of Gratitude to your Majesty and your illustrious Consort for your unparallel'd Care, Conduct and Vigilance, in preserving us from that imminent Danger. And we most humbly beseech Almighty God, still to bless and prosper your Majesty's pious Designs for the good of your People, to preserve you long the true Defender and Ornament of his Church, which enjoys so many Advantages under your Majesty's Protection, and when both Church and State shall be so unhappy, as to lose the best of Queens, to transmit these Blessings to our Posterity in the Protestant Succession, as it is now by Law Establish'd.

Which Address Her Majesty receiv'd very graciously.

Lisbon, May 31. N. S. The two Armies on these Frontiers are still at the same distance from each other, tho' both of them have chang'd their Situation; our Forces having pass'd a little River call'd the Caya, the Marquis de Bay has march'd over the Xevora, to preserve his Communication with Badajoz, and is now encamped between us and that Town. The Armies are not two Leagues distant from each other, and have nothing but a Plain between their Camps. By our last Motion we are Masters of all the Forrage behind us in a Country depending on the Spaniards. The Portuguese Army consists of 10000 Foot and 3200 Horse; the Enemy have an equal number of Cavalry, but their Foot does not exceed 7000 Men. By the last Lists we have receiv'd from Spain of our Forces, and those of the Enemy, we are stronger also on that side; for according to those Advices the number of their Troops in Aragon, Valencia, Roussillon and Cerdagna, doth not amount to 20000 Men; and ours in Catalonia, Alicante, Denia and Majorca come to above 25000.

Berne, June 16. N. S. The Business of Tockenburgh still gives some Trouble to the Protestant Cantons, for which reason they are now assembled in a Diet at Arrau; but it is not yet known what Measures they will take for the further Security of the Peace of that Country. Our Letters from Turin of the 9th Instant say, that Admiral Leake arriv'd with his Fleet before Genoa on the 5th of this Month; and confirm his having taken the greatest part of a Fleet of Provisions that was going to the Coast of Valencia from Languedoc. Advices from Paris say, 'twas thought the Duke of Orleans could not undertake the Siege of Tortosa, as well by reason of the Loss of his expected Provisions, as upon the account of the overflowing of the Ebro.

From the Camp at Terbanck, June 25. N. S. On Friday the 22d Instant, the Electoral Prince of Hanover arriv'd at the Camp from Antwerp; his Highness alighted at Monfieur Roulow's, General of the Hanover Troops, in her Majesty's Pay, about a League off in the Right of the Camp, where his Grace the Duke of Mariborough went to wait upon him; he came hither in the Afternoon to return his Grace's Visit, and then went to Louvain, where Quarters were prepar'd for him and his Retinue. The Army commanded by his Grace the Duke of Mariborough continues still in the same Camp; as does likewise that of the Enemy, who made a General Forage Yesterday between Halle and Tubise, with a Guard of 10000 Men.

Hagns,
